

Liu Yanhua

His Excellency Dr Liu Yanhua is Former Vice Minister in the Ministry of Science and Technology (MOST), People's Republic of China.

Born in 1950, he graduated from the Natural Geology Program of the University of Science and Technology of China with a master's degree in Geography, and obtained a doctorate from the Chinese Academy of Science. He also did post-graduate research at the International Aeronautic and Geological College in the Netherlands. Dr Liu has held posts in the office of geography at the Academy, including director and doctoral supervisor. In 2001, he was appointed Vice-Minister of Science and Technology.

Inter alia he currently also is a Member of the Population and Environment Committee of the Chinese People's Political Consultative Committee, and is a Standing Member of both the Chinese Association of Geography and the Chinese Association of Sustainable Development.