

John Drzik

John Drzik serves as President of Mercer Oliver Wyman and Chief Executive Officer of the $1 BN Mercer Specialty Consulting Group.

He joined the former Oliver, Wyman & Company in 1984 and was appointed to Chairman in 2000. Drzik was integral to establishing the firm in its leadership position in financial services strategy and risk management consulting, advising financial institutions across the capital markets, wholesale banking, retail banking, and insurance sectors.

The author of numerous articles on the financial services industry, Drzik is a frequent conference speaker in both the US and Europe. He has also been a speaker at leading industry and regulatory forums sponsored by the Basle Committee, the Federal Reserve, FFIEC, and World Bank.

He is also the founder of the Mercer Oliver Wyman Institute, a cooperative undertaking between the firm and leading academics, designed to accelerate knowledge transfer between the academic community and the financial services industry.

Drzik graduated summa cum laude with a BSE degree in Engineering Management Systems from Princeton University, and is currently on the Advisory Board of Princeton's Financial Engineering program and the Industry Advisory Board of the Wharton Financial Institutions Center.
